This architectural section drawing illustrates the 'Haus der Kunst' building, a multi-story structure with a red-outlined facade. The building is shown in cross-section, revealing internal spaces, including a large central hall and several smaller rooms. The drawing is set against a background of other buildings, including a church with a prominent Gothic-style facade and a modern building with a flat roof. The drawing is labeled with various architectural codes and dimensions on the right side, including '1:10' Atrio, '1:10' OG.2, '1:10' OG.1, '1:10' ZG, '1:10' EG, and '1:10' UG. The drawing is oriented vertically, with the building's facade facing the viewer.

The image displays architectural drawings for a building, including a detailed cross-section on the left and a corresponding elevation on the right.
